

Allen Kim Bio

Allen Kim is a transformational Chief Information Officer, consultant, and board director who creates resilient and highly efficient IT organizations that drive profitability and growth.

As the former Chief Information Officer for CPI Security Systems, Inc. and a member of CPI Security's executive team, Mr. Kim was responsible for all aspects of information technology supporting the company's growth as the industry's 10th largest security and home automation provider.

Previously, Mr. Kim was the CIO for ACN, Inc., the world's largest direct seller of telecommunications services. Prior to that, he held senior leadership roles at Wachovia Bank (now Wells Fargo & Company) in IT, Finance, Consulting, and Program Management. Earlier, Mr. Kim was a Sr. IT Project Manager at Duke Energy and a Managing Consultant with both Accenture and Price Waterhouse.

Currently, Mr. Kim is an independent consultant to other CIOs and business executives.

Mr. Kim has a Master of Science degree in computer engineering from North Carolina State University. He also earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in chemistry and mathematics from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

In addition to serving on board of directors of Apparo as well as other nonprofit organizations, Mr. Kim has been an active member and supporter of North Carolina Special Olympics and The Children's Attention Home. He and his wife, Dina, have lived in Charlotte for 25 years and their son, Alex, is busy starting his own company in Washington, D.C.